

FINDS TWO OTHER WIVES ON THE JOB AFTER HONEYMOON

Mrs. Traubmann, Opera Singer, Now Regrets Romance With Movie Man.

"LIL" WAS IN LONDON.

She Was One Too Many After First Spouse Had Been Reported in Boston.

When Mrs. Sophie Traubmann, an opera singer, who lives at No. 150 West Ninety-fifth street, reached London with her new husband in an effort to escape his alleged wife in Boston, it was only to be confronted by a third alleged wife there, according to a cablegram from London received here to-day.

According to the London cable Mrs. Traubmann said she and her fifteen-year-old daughter, Eleanor, went the summer in Europe and returned to the United States on the Lusitania when the war started. On the way over she met George Albert Schroeder, who said he was a film star promoter, of London, on his way over to place war films. She agreed to marry him and her six years' widowhood as such as they landed, and when they were unable to wed in Montreal they came on to New York, where they were married in City Hall Sept. 1 by Hermann Boardman.

The bridegroom, she said, gave her $1,000 on a London bank, and told her he owned two buildings in London. They spent their honeymoon in her Ninety-fifth street flat, and in a few days he went to Cleveland to visit his mother and brothers. When she joined him there a day or two later, she said, she was met with the announcement that she had been duped, as Schroeder had a wife in London and a son being cared for in Cleveland by his father's family.

According to Mrs. Traubmann, Schroeder confessed before his family that he was still married to the Boston woman.

Mrs. Traubmann decided to try to win the matter up in America by going with him to Europe and did not tell her parents. Schroeder insisted the affair of the Boston wife could be adjusted. On the eve of their departure on the Campania he begged her they had reason to think he had a fiancée in London. Schroeder denied this, but admitted he might have difficulty in breaking off relations with a woman he called "Lil," who was landing at Liverpool.

Mrs. Traubmann got possession of a wire from Schroeder aboard the Campania by "Lil" saying she would be in London to meet him.

When their train reached London Schroeder said "Lil," according to Mrs. Traubmann, and rushed over to kiss her. The singer intervened and declared she was Schroeder's wife. Schroeder told "Lil" it wasn't so, whereupon Mrs. Traubmann produced the marriage certificate. The other declared she was also his wife. Schroeder left the two women comparing notes and escaped in a taxicab. Accompanied by Mrs. Traubmann's daughter they went to a police station and, after telling their story, Scotland Yard men were sent to search for Schroeder. The American Embassy will also be asked to aid.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one. A careful cure of your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if any one should eat something which doesn't agree with them: if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and causes gas and gas; causes heartburn, acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

Tells How Rheumatic Pains of Many Years Were Quickly Conquered

"I think it is my duty to talk for publication and tell how I escaped being confined to a wheel chair on account of rheumatism," said Miss S. A. Paul, 516 Essex St., Lynn, Mass. She continued:

"For 18 years I suffered from this terrible disease in many forms and during this time was never entirely free from pain. At times I was confined to my bed helpless, and would have to be carried about. The stiffness and pain were unbearable and almost every joint was afflicted as well as the sciatic nerve. My greatest difficulty was in going up or down stairs on account of the stiffness and chalky deposit; mornings I would have to come down backwards. I was especially stiff after remaining quiet for any length of time; it would take several minutes before I could take a step, but after walking about I would feel better except for the weakness in the knees.

"My last physician gave me no hope for a cure and said that temporary relief was the most I could hope for. Reading about so many people that found help from Var-ne-sis, I investigated and found them as represented. I then decided to give Var-ne-sis a trial. Now I am a well woman, stiffness has entirely disappeared and I haven't a pain or an ache. This I consider remarkable after suffering 18 years."

The remarkable success of Var-ne-sis is probably due to the fact that it does not contain the ordinary drugs so often given for stomach trouble or rheumatism. It gets the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood in good condition, thus removing the cause. All rheumatics should have the journal devoted to rheumatism sent free by addressing W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass. Tell your druggist to get Var-ne-sis for you from his wholesaler.
